BioForum Accelerator

An overview

We believe the most transformative innovations will emerge from the convergence of science, technology, and entrepreneurship

Our mission is to empower biotech early-stage founders to think big and move fast, delivering industry-changing innovations.

WHERE ARE WE NOW?

SCIENTISTS

In Poland

EMPLOYMENT

Polish scientists employed at public universities.

COMMERCIALISATION

University-patented inventions reaching the market

WHAT ARE MAIN CHALLENGES?

INNOVATION GAP

EU scientific startups lag behind the U.S. and China in turning innovation into commercial success, with only one-third of university-patented inventions reaching the market.

LACK OF SUPPORT and MARKET FRAGMENTATION

Early-stage founders often lack access to capital, mentors, and networks... especially in Europe where market is very fragmented.

DIGITAL INTEGRATION LAG

European biotech companies are slower in adopting digital health technologies and AI into their operations, affecting areas like drug discovery, clinical trials, and patient monitoring.
